

What Is White Card Training Sydney?

Edway's White Card Training Sydney is simply a six hour course (with breaks) which, once you are accredited, allows future employers to know you should have a basic understanding of workplace health and safety.

Our White Card Training Sydney is one of the most popular courses we offer. About White Cards

- It doesn't matter whether you are an entry level labourer, the person who gets the coffee, a site administrator, or a high-level specialist tradesperson – anyone who enters a construction site in Sydney must be carrying proof that they have White Card Sydney training. And one of the best ways to get that is with Edway's White Card Training Sydney.
- White Cards were introduced a number of years ago to reduce the growing numbers of workplace injuries and deaths.
- Known formally as Work Safely in the Construction Industry CPCCOHS1001A, throughout NSW the course is more generally called White Card Training Sydney.
- One of the key strategies is all construction workers have training to understand their workplace responsibilities and rights, and are aware of the risks and hazards they could experience if employed in construction.
- Carefully designed to meet the requirements of Safe Work Australia's White Card Training regulations, Edway's White Card Training Sydney is designed to be easily understood by school leavers, career changers, backpackers and anyone else who is seeking employment within NSW's strong-growth construction industries.

Who Are Safe Work Australia?

Safe Work Australia is a group made up from the Australian Government, the unions, and business representatives. It was originally put together to develop, and put in place practices to lower workplace accidents and incidents within the construction industries. Safe Work Australia proudly declares 'the incidence rate of serious claims [within the construction industries] has decreased by 31% over the last 11 years'.

Who Is Edway?

Edway is a highly esteemed training provider who has been a strong member of the registered training organisations (RTOs) for 20 years. And our White Card Training Sydney, is one of the fourteen industry based courses available in Sydney.

For your convenience Edway has four training facilities in NSW – each one offer White Card Training Sydney numerous times during most months.

Although Edway’s White Card Training Sydney usually only requires six hours (plus breaks) attendance, our instructors cover the four Occupational Health and Safety required areas of White Card Training in depth,

- 1. identifying OHS legislative requirements
- 2. identifying construction hazards and control measures.
- 3. identifying OHS communication and reporting processes.
- 4. identifying OHS incident response procedures

We firmly believe that all students benefit if White Card Training Sydney is provided in these four ways,

- 1. face to face instruction via power-point presenting and videos
- 2. class room activities and discussions
- 3. written instructions with notes
- 4. online assessment

We know all this can sound pretty challenging, but we only employ friendly, easy to understand, industry skilled instructors to guide your way through our White Card Training Sydney course. White Card accreditation can be seen as the first step towards employment within the construction industries. Although most of this employment will be entry-level, there are a whole new range of career pathways that you later could become eligible for.
